Brazil Sensations a 100% green DMC

Brazil Sensations is the first Brazilian DMC to engage itself in the carbon offset of its activities.

Besides our daily gestures to minimize our impact to our planet, Brazil Sensations decided not only to be ecological and socially sustainable, but as well to reinforce the regenerative tourism.

Following a long expertise by Agroforestry Carbon, our CO2 emissions are compensated in the form of contribution to certified projects in Brazil.

In line with the UN's Sustainable Development Goals (SDGs), our actions are concentrated in reforestation, preserving forests and its biodiversity as well as renewable energy sources whilst assuring the protection of vulnerable local populations.

These days, it has become difficult to ignore the impact that our tourism projects in Brazil can have to the environment. ## CUIABÁ

Cuiabá is the capital of the state of Mato Grosso. Cuiabá was originally a border outpost known as Arraial de Forquilha, founded in 1719 after the discovery of gold along the banks of the Rio Coxipos. Despite being the capital, Cuiabá remained in almost complete isolation throughout the 19th century.

The city gradually began to develop in the early 1930s during a conflict with Paraguay when it supplied Brazilian troops with food and construction wood. During the same decade, its relative isolation ended with the construction of a road and a railway connecting Mato Grosso to the coast.

By 1960, Cuiabá had a population of 50,000. The founding of Brasília in the same year turned it into a major economic center. The city started exporting soybeans and rice abroad. By 1980, the population had exceeded 250,000 people.
